Privacy Policy for Eshtyle

Introduction

Welcome to Eshtyle by Zenrevo IT Solutions, a cutting-edge fashion e-commerce platform designed to offer personalized shopping experiences through customization and AI-driven design generation. Our mission is to revolutionize the way you engage with fashion, providing a space for creators to showcase their designs and for customers to create their unique style.

Information Collection

We collect various types of personal information, including:

- Name and contact details
- Payment information
- Customization preferences and choices
- Images and designs uploaded by creators and users

Data is collected directly from users, through cookies, and other technologies to enhance user experience and improve our services.

Use of Information

The collected information is used to:

- Process transactions and customize products
- Provide customer support and respond to inquiries
- Generate AI-driven designs based on user preferences

All designs and customizations are processed with the utmost care to ensure your visions are accurately brought to life.

Sharing of Information

Information may be shared with third parties under the following circumstances:

- Vendors for product customization
- Business partners for plugin integration

User designs may also be featured on the platform, with proper consent, to inspire the community.

Data Protection

We employ various measures to protect user data, including encryption and access control. Our data retention and deletion policies ensure your information is handled responsibly.

User Rights

Users have the right to access, correct, or delete their personal information. For any such requests, please contact us through the information provided below.

Third-Party Services

Our platform may include services from third parties, whose privacy practices are not covered by our policy. We encourage users to review these policies.

International Data Transfers

Information may be transferred internationally. We ensure all data is protected with appropriate safeguards.

Changes to the Privacy Policy

Any changes to our privacy policy will be communicated through our website and via email, where applicable.
